Kapitel 3: All of a sudden the elevator stops and you were trapped in it together (You don't know each other)

TOP:

He looks up to the display which tells you where you are and sees that it isn't changing anymore. "Aishhh" You can hear from him and are looking at him. When he recognizes his behavior he looks back at you. "Mianeyo." He excuses, looks to the buttons and starts to press the alarm.

While you two are waiting for help he doesn't really talk with you.

GD:

He was already in a hurry when he entered the elevator. "Nooooo!" He nearly screams and starts to press some buttons but the elevator doesn't move. You can hear a sigh from him and take a look at your phone. "There's also no mobile reception" You're telling him and he starts to look at you. Just now he recognizes that he is not alone in the elevator. "Ah. Uhm....thanks." Is the only thing he can say.

The time you two wait for help, he is telling you about his plans for today and that he is in a hurry but won't be able to make it. You try to cheer him up and are even telling him some private funny stories.

When you make it out of the elevator he turns around to you again before he is leaving, thanks you for the time you two shared and tells you that he enjoyed it.

Daesung:

"Ohhh!!" He says surprised and starts to press the button, for the floor he has to go, again. "Doesn't move" He comments and looks at you. "Seems like we are trapped." Still he is in a good mood but changes after some seconds. "It's a little bit scary." He says with a look at the door and takes a step back. Daesung looks at you worried. "I hope you are not scared. Don't worry. Nothing will happen. We will be saved soon." You nod and sit down on the floor. He does the same and sits across you. "What's your name? I'm Daesung. Nice to meet you." He introduces himself and you do it too.

Because he is worried about you he starts to entertain you and make you laugh the whole time. Thanks to him the time passes by really quickly and you are saved soon. When you have to separate you thank him and say goodbye and he does the same. You hope when you ever will be trapped again, it would be with him.

Taeyang:

"What the..?" you two are saying synchronic. He presses the alarm and looks at you. "Someone will come soon and will help us." He says to comfort you and you nod. You both sit down and no one was saying anything. Because you couldn't bear it anymore you break the silence. "You're Taeyang, right?" He nods and smiles at you. You know that he is always good to his fans, so you take all of your courage and try to ask him. "Well. Because we can't do anything now and have to wait.....What about you teach me some dance moves or give me a mini concert?" You are totally scared that he will decline but he smiles at you and nod.

Together you start to dance and cover the 'I need a girl' song.

Because of a loud sound you two startle, stop and look at the door. Your help is there. Before separating you thank him for the nice time and say goodbye to each other.

Seungri:

You can hear a sigh from him and starts to look at him. He turns around, leans to the wall and starts to look at you too. "Hi. I'm Seunghyun." He starts the conversation and you are telling him your name too.

After some minutes you two have a very lively and open conversation.

"When we get out here we can go to eat some ice cream together. What do you think?" You nod as answer and he smiles back.

When you two were saved he gave you his number and tells you to call him to make up a time for your date.
